SYNOPSIS

Ann Foster, salesgirl at "Marks-Park Avenue" in New York City, is transferred to the Miami Beach branch of that store, where the manager, impressed with her unusual beauty, engages her as a model. Julia, her practical-minded sister, an airline stewardess on the New York-Miami run, persistently encourages her to marry millionaire Vince Ogden, but Ann does not love him. At Mrs. Avery Willard's War Relief Tea, Ann meets Jim Brent, handsome pilot officer, engaged in training cadets at a nearby airfield. From Vince she learns that Jim is teaching Lotus Willard to fly her own plane and the consensus is he will supplant Hank Bruger, society hanger-on, in the frivolous Mrs. Willard's life.

for the War Relief. Vince outbids everyone — this time giving the check to Julia. The tea over, he invites the crowd to dine aboard his yacht, "The Pelican."

CHAPTER SEVEN

"Of course we'll come, Vince," Julia cut in. "But first we'll dash to the apartment, and I'll get into this gorgeous gown. Ever so many thanks again for it."

Ann said firmly: "You'll have to excuse me, Vince. I'm exhausted, and I've got a headache. Count me out, please."

"Ho! Sore? Don't you know I'm mad about you, precious? I'll buy you another gown just like Julia's! The tender will be waiting at the pier for you. Come on, now—say you're coming?" he coaxed thickly.

pride wouldn't let her alter her decision. Nor did it make things better that Julia nagged her as the shabby little car wheezed and rattled them home. She continued her lecture as they walked through the winding courtyard, and up the boudgavillea-twined stairs to the tiny apartment.

Ann, with tears in her eyes, walked out on the diminutive wooden balcony beyond the small living-room, so that Julia might not see her distress. The night-blooming jasmine in the garden below had opened, and was giving out intoxicating sweetness. It brought back to her the heady conversation with Jim.

"Juliet without a Romeo," called Julia derisively, "and of her own choice!" She flounced into the one small bedroom, and slammed the door. Presently she flung it open, to demand the loan of a pair of silk stockings, and Ann's silver kid slippers with the French buckles.

"Of all the fools who ever had a rich beau eating out of her hand! But you'd rather we both slave for a living, wouldn't you? You know what it would mean to both of us if you'd only give Vince a tumble!" snapped Julia.

"I don't love him," Ann said.

"Love? Phooey! Bunk! Suppose he does nauseate you—(though why a girl without a nickel should be so darned squeamish is beyond me)—the law doesn't compel you to go on living with him! You could get a darned good settlement out of him, that's what!"

"You revolt me when you talk like that, Julia! If mother or father were alive, and heard!" Ann sighed.

"That's the very reason you ought to grab yourself a future, idiot! We've no one back of us! Stop moaning! Money doesn't grow on trees! I may be only an air-stewardess—and blamed sick of it—but my feet are firmly on the earth. Can't you see this is the chance of a lifetime?"

"No. We talk different languages, that's all," Ann quavered.

Julia was quick to take advantage of that tremble in her sister's voice. She ran to her, flung her arms about her, and kissed her.

"Don't you know I love you, Ann? You're all I've got in this rotten world, and I want you to be happy, honey!"

"Happiness doesn't lie with Vince,"—in a low shaken tone.

"Money can buy a darned good counterfeit of happiness, darling," insisted the practical older sister.

She slid into the new orchid-and-rose gown. "Get an eyeful of me in this dress! See what it does for me! See what money does for me! The ugly duckling changed into a bird-of-paradise!"

"You shan't belittle your looks—you're always very handsome, Julia—but you do look lovely in that gown," admitted Ann, "and now I'll run you to the pier, and come back, and get to bed early."

Despite further protestations, she donned blue pajamas, tied a bright scarf about her hair, chauffeured her sister to the waiting tender, and returned to the little apartment.

PLAN CAREFULLY FOR YOUR HOLIDAY WARDROBE

Left, print afternoon dress; center, wool gabardine slacks, knit waistcoat, cotton shirt; right, dance dress.

If you are one of the lucky girls whose war activities allow you to take a few week-ends off and go to the country this summer, you should plan your wardrobe carefully and shop with an eye to style and price. It is important to choose costumes that will do double duty—smart not only for country wear, but also for town. The models shown were created for around the clock activities. The slacks suit, center, consists of navy wool gabardine slacks, a pink cotton, long-sleeved shirt and waistcoat of kelly green knit. The short-sleeved print dress, left, is perfect for tea dances and afternoon garden parties. It is a navy bow-knot print on a white crepe ground, with shoulder bows and shocking pink grosgrain belt. A white Milan hat with navy braid crocheted edge and band is worn with it. For the evening dance is shown the white pique and organdie dress, right. It has big coin dots applied on the full organdie skirt, and the fitted pique bodice has a sweetheart neckline, for country or city dances.

160 WAAC UNITS ON ACTIVE DUTY

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, June 9.—There are 160 field companies of the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps now on active duty in army posts and air bases in the United States and overseas, Major Harold A. Edlund, WAAC recruiting director, disclosed last night.

Arriving here from Washington to assist in a concerted recruiting drive, Major Edlund declared that "within six months for a few, and less than that for others, these WAAC field companies have made an impressive record for themselves."

He added that only four companies have been in the field for as much as six months, and that within the last month 126 of the total 160 companies have gone to army posts.

"The first WAACs were largely engaged in administrative work," Major Edlund asserted, "but believe me, things have changed since then. If you could visit army posts where they are serving you would find them doing such diverse work as aircraft warning service, engine and propeller specialists, bomb-sight and gun-sight repairing, chauffeurs, control tower operators, camera technicians, draftsmen, parachute riggers, laboratory technicians, teletypists, radio operators, cryptographers and weather observers."

DEBATE NEEDS OF POST-WAR NATION

Nebraska Alert to Possibilities of Future Development

OMAHA, Neb.—Nebraska is pretty busy just now with the war effort, along with the other states of the union.

The third statewide scrap collection drive was recently completed after the state got off to a spectacular start last year in gathering odds and ends of metal. The second war bond drive was oversubscribed 80 per cent.

But the people of Nebraska, its business leaders and farmers, are not overlooking the possibilities that the post-war economy holds for the middle west.

Public Well Informed

Chemurgy is a word that has come to be a common term among the reading public of the state. During its past few sessions, the state's unicameral legislature has appropriated funds to carry out research in chemurgy, which has to do with utilizing farm products of the present and future by converting them through chemical processes into useful materials.

The last legislature put $40,000 into the hands of a group of scientists headed by Dr. Leo Christensen to continue chemurgy research. The Omaha Chamber of Commerce, through its agricultural department, has been spending considerable sums of money for the last several years in experiments along this line.

Dehydration Studied

Dehydration of meats has been practiced at Omaha packing plants, largely for lend-lease. Possibilities of future developments along this line are being looked into by the Chamber of Commerce.

The chamber has engaged Dr. Charles Courtney, Creighton university scientist, to follow through on experiments in dehydration. Most of the possibilities for future industrial development in the Omaha area are believed to lie in utilization of its farm crops, not only those being grown at the present time, but others which may be cultivated for purposes as yet undiscovered.

Such ordinary farm yard materials as corn cobs have been found to have uses in many modern products. From cobs, dynamite, linoleum, fur cleaners and wall board have been made. Soy beans grown in Nebraska and Iowa farms may easily be converted into light weight automobile bodies and for use in aircraft. Corn stalks may some day provide a large portion of our paper stock.

Through the magic of chemistry, it is even possible to make excellent felt hats from cow's milk.

In Omaha, there is a great deal of interest in plastics because of the construction under way at present of a grain alcohol plant which will be in production by early fall. It will produce 17,500,000 gallons of alcohol annually and will use 6,000,000 bushels of grain each year in the process. Since there are more than 600 industrial uses for alcohol, this plant may be the beginning of a large chemical industry in this area.

Keep Eye on Future

The possibilities for future industrial development in Nebraska are being surveyed by Alvin Johnson, Omaha bank president who is chairman of the Nebraska branch of the Committee for Economic Development, which is headed nationally by Paul Hoffman, president of Studebaker corporation. He is visiting every community in the state and compiling data on every plant, whether or not it is engaged in war production. The possibilities of changing over to peace time production of any of the materials and products being developed by scientists are being studied.

BIVINS ARISES TO KAYO MARSHALL IN CLEVELAND FIGHT

Down for Two Count, Light Heavy Champ Puts Negro Out for Keeps

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, June 9.—Jimmy Bivins' left eye was closed today but he had a firm grasp on his duration light heavyweight championship.

Lloyd Marshall of California presumed to lift the crown from Cleveland Jimmy's head last night and took the full count in the 13th heat.

A sneak right belted James and his dignity to the canvas for a two-count in the seventh round and aroused a Bivins who usually exerts his talents just enough to win.

The title-holder pulled up his ring trousers and dropped the California Negro for counts of nine in the ninth and six in the 12th before delivering the payoff punch.

The bout might have ended one round sooner but the bell interrupted Referee Jackie Davis' enumerating in the 12th.

Marshall, at 164, spotted the Cleveland Negro 10 pounds and wasn't too far behind at the end of six stanzas but that seventh-round right stirred an easy-going Bivins.

A crowd of 18,448 contributed $61,195 to witness the scheduled 15-round, Matchmaker Larry Atkins' first outdoor presentation of the season.

The word "duration" may be dropped from Jimmy's title after the war if he continues to slam opponents around the ring. The National Boxing association lists him as the logical contender for the 175-pound championship owned by Coast Guardsman Gus Lesnevich.

The official light heavy king is reported to have gone up to 190 pounds since entering the service and may campaign among the heavyweights when he returns to civilian life.

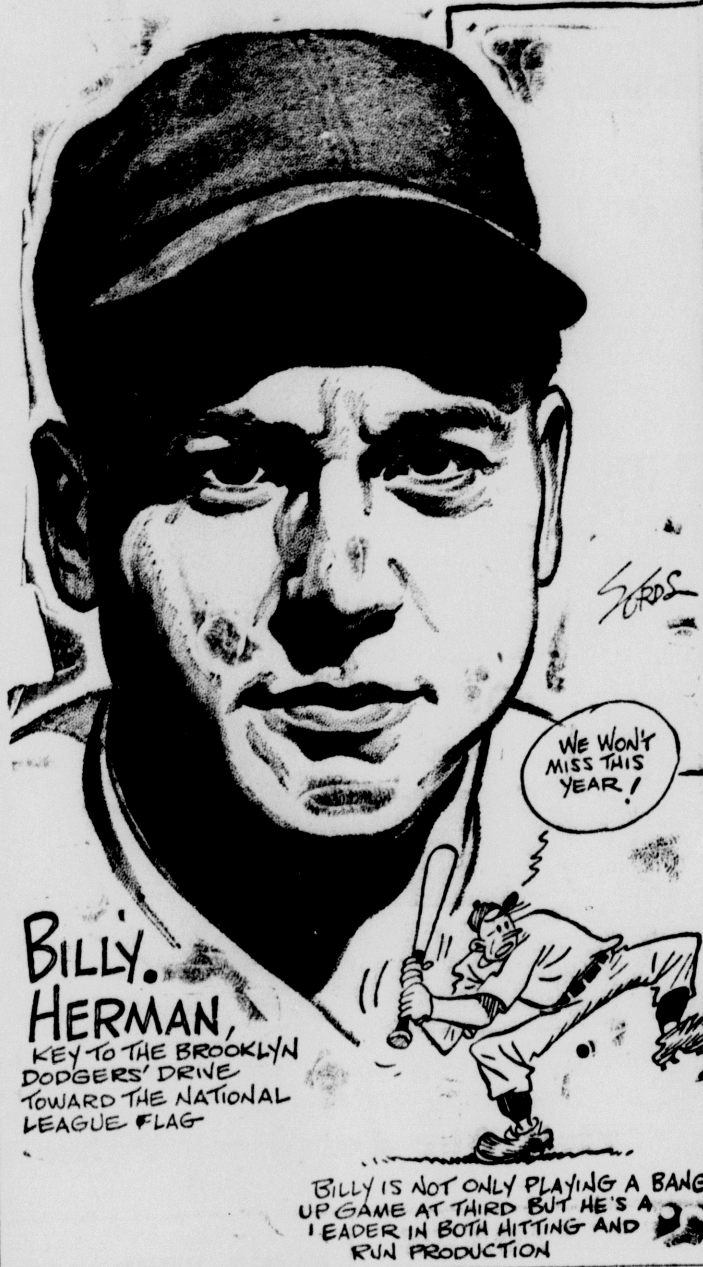

Lulu Costantino, slick New York featherweight, knocked out Cleveland Joey Pirrone in the ninth frame of a scheduled 10-rounder presented after the Bivins-Marshall engagement. Pirrone weighed 133, three pounds more than the New Yorker.

Featherweight Freddy Pope of Columbus came from behind to gain a six-round decision over New York's Ham Wiloby. Pope weighed 125, Wiloby 119.

Fitz Fitzpatrick, 163, Cleveland, decided Johnny Lawer, 161, also of Cleveland, in another six-rounder. Bobby Richardson, 153, of Cleveland, bested Ernie Pelsa, 158, Beaver Falls, Pa., in the six-round opener.

Recreation Whips Gold Bars 5-0; Chinas Beat Scotts

The Gold Bars were shut out 5 to 0 last night by the Recreation at Centennial park to leave the Recreation and Bliss undefeated in the still young Class A league season.

The Salem China nine nosed out Scotts 7 to 5 by bringing in three runs in the seventh inning in the other Class A league encounter last night. In the Class B, the Slovaks won over the East End A's 5 to 2.

It looked like a 1 to 0 victory for the Recreation last night until the Recreation managed to drive in two runs in the sixth inning and repeated the feat in the seventh. The winners had 11 hits to the Gold Bars' four. Phillips was the winning pitcher.

Bowlers On Night Duty Plan Afternoon League

Several bowlers who work at night have expressed a desire to have an afternoon league organized so they can participate.

The movement, just started, is growing and indications are that enough teams can be organized to start an afternoon league. Anyone interested is urged to contact the Salem Bowling Center.

High school leagues for both boys and girls are in prospect, according to Manager Adrian. As soon as school is out the last of the week, these leagues are expected to get under way. Schedules will be arranged for late afternoon bowling.

Lefty Grove, former great Philadelphia and Boston pitcher, was beaten 13 straight times by Washington before he could score a triumph.

Whitey Wieteleman, Boston Braves shortstop, handled 83 chances flawlessly this season before he made his first error.

All-Time Baseball Team Is Selected By Troops of AEF

LONDON—Babe Ruth is the supreme idol of baseball among American soldiers training in England. Jack Dempsey is tops in boxing, Bronko Nagurski in football and Bob Jones, Walter Hagen and Gene Sarazen in golf.

That, says Fred Corcoran, is the result of sports polls he has conducted in 60-odd appearances at troop centers in Britain. Corcoran, former professional golf tournament manager, is here under the auspices of the American Red Cross, giving sports talks to the enlisted men, teaching golf and helping to promote athletics generally.

The soldiers voted the Chicago Bears the superlative professional football team and last year's Ohio State club the greatest college team.

Yankees Have Hit The Skids
In baseball, the Yankees have hit the skids of lesser favor. The greatest partisanship is for two National league clubs, the Brooklyn Dodgers and the St. Louis Cardinals.

"The Brooklyn fellows of course, are rabid," Corcoran said, "but it doesn't end there. You'll find southern boys rooting for the Dodgers."

The soldiers have named an all-time, both league baseball team as follows:

Pitchers—Dizzy Dean, Lefty Gomez, Carl Hubbell.
Catchers—Bill Dickey, Mickey Cochrane, Harry Danning, Gabby Hartnett.

Shortstops—Peeewe Reese, Joe Cronin, Lou Boudreau, Frankie Frisch.
First Basemen—Lou Gehrig, Bill Terry, Dolph Camille.

Second Basemen—Charley Gehringer, Rogers Hornsby.
Third Basemen—Jimmy Dykes, Pie Traynor.

Outfielders—Babe Ruth, Joe DiMaggio, Ty Cobb, Terry Moore, Bill Nicholson, Hack Wilson.

"Although the boys are plenty smart in these baseball polls and quizzes," says Corcoran, "there's one question I always catch them on—the most money? They answer wrongly that it was Dizzy Dean, sold by the St. Louis Cardinals to the Chicago Cubs for $185,000. The right answer is: Joe Cronin, sold by the Washington Senators to the Boston Red Sox for $250,000."

"It is interesting to note," he continued, "that the soldiers are all for the continuation of major league baseball back home."

Ask All Sorts Of Questions
The men fire all sorts of questions at Corcoran, both in the bull sessions and through the mails. How far can a human being throw a baseball? How far can an arrow accurately be shot from a bow? How many sports did Whizzer White excel in?

Women are by no means excluded from the fun. At a recent program in northern Ireland to which many American soldiers brought girls in uniform, the WAAFs, the WRENs and the ATS popped up with almost as many questions and answers as did the men.

"Since these girls have been going out with our fellows," Corcoran said, "they've picked up a world of information about American sports, especially baseball."

That experience prompted him to prepare a special quiz session, for men and women, concerning women in sports.

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
NEW YORK, June 9.—Don't know who rounded up the bidders for that War bond auction of baseball players yesterday, but there was so much Brooklyn money in the place that they were even bidding for Giants before the finish.

When they put the first bunch of Horace Stoneham's hired hands on the block, though, a gent arose and solemnly announced, "The Brooklyn Junior Chamber of Commerce bids 25 cents for the entire Giant team."

And the first time someone offered a million for a player, the non-buying spectators at one table emptied their pockets and found they had less than ten bucks among them.

Elsie the Bucks bought Bobo Newman, for $375,000 and the company publicity man promptly sent him a wire: "For years I have been giving plenty of milk and cream and now for the first time I have a pitcher of my own. Elsie."

Elbie Fletcher, Pirates' first baseman, won a newspaper contest as the best schoolboy baseball player to break into the big leagues.

OF NEXT 36 GAMES TRIBE WILL PLAY 27 IN CLEVELAND

Schedule Favors Indians Who Always Do Better On Home Reservation

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

One of the questions to be taken up for settlement as the major leagues swing back into action today is whether the Cleveland Indians can become contenders in the American league again now that they are back on their own reservation.

The Indians never have been much of a threat while traveling and their recent invasion of the east was particularly disastrous.

They had moved into first place on May 23 to climax a successful home stand and then they proceeded to lose 11 of 16 games on the road to tumble into sixth place. It was the biggest fall any of the major league clubs took in the recent interseasonal competition.

Now the schedule is going to slope in favor of the Tribe. Of the next 36 games for the Indians, 27 of them will be played in Cleveland.

The Indians are not trusting entirely in this, however, for they have reached into the minor leagues in the last few days in an effort to strengthen the club—getting First Baseman Mike Rocco from Buffalo for Otto Denning and Rookie Eddie Turchin and buying Outfielder Pat Seery from Wilkes-Barre for reserve duty. The latter move was necessary by an injury to Hank Edwards.

Cleveland's first series at home will be five games with the staggering St. Louis Browns. Jim Bagby was booked to pitch for the Indians.

Besides St. Louis at Cleveland, today's resumption of activities in the major calls for Chicago at Detroit in a twilight affair and Washington at Boston in the American league as well as Boston at Brooklyn (twilight), Philadelphia at New York and Pittsburgh at St. Louis in the National league.

Clothing Rationing Prospects Brighter

Amount of Wool for Civilian Clothing Doubled Today by WPB

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Prospects of avoiding clothing rationing brightened noticeably today with the War Production board's decision to double the amount of wool that may go into civilian woolen and worsted fabrics.

Barring difficulties with manpower and machinery shortages, both described as "serious obstacles," WPB said that the improved wool supply picture guaranteed sufficient raw material to meet all essential civilian and military needs.

The clothing produced, moreover, will be warm and long-lasting, for WPB yesterday eliminated the provisions that made part of each manufacturer's wool supply contingent on his mixing the fiber with rayon, cotton or other substitutes.

It appeared that the textile situation had reversed itself, and that the rayon and cotton which WPB a year ago was urging manufacturers to blend into their fabrics to stretch the wool supply now appears likely to become scarcer than wool itself.

Some officials said there was virtually no danger of rationing this year and possibly not for the duration.

Unexpectedly heavy shipments of wool in munitions boats returning from Australia—a contingent which appeared last spring likely to be lost to the Japanese, or at least cut off from shipping connections—and

These Girls Object to Wearing Slacks

Even as more and more girls don slacks instead of skirts, these office workers at a Ford Motor Co. plant in Detroit entered a heated objection to an order that they wear slacks. In fact, the girls were so opposed to the idea that they sat at their typewriters and refused to work. They are shown above outside the plant gates, with just one of them wearing the slacks. The company said that it banned skirts because they are more dangerous around machinery in the plant, where the girls sometimes must go in the course of their work.

Careful observation of the domestic wool clip have boosted the raw wool stockpile to about 1,800,000,000 pounds, greater than ever before.

Only 20 Per Cent Of Medical Grads To Aid Civilians

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, June 9.—Only 20 per cent of the medical graduates each year can now be spared for care of civilians. The others will go into the military medical corps as long as the war lasts.

This prospect was sketched to the house of delegates of the American Medical Association here last night by Dr. James E. Paulin, of Atlanta, the association's new president.

The yearly total of new civilian physicians he estimated at about 1,200. To this he added about 600 who are being retired each year from military service. Against this the doctors who are left, mostly men over 45, are dying at the rate of 2,500 a year.

This leaves a deficit of about 700 a year. To meet this, and the big shortage due to nearly half the active doctors already in military service, Dr. Paulin said plans should be made now for better use of the older physicians who have not been very active in medical practice.

It is the hope of organized medicine to have one doctor for each 1,500 persons in the United States. This compares with an average of 2 to 4 per thousand in many areas, and is much better than some rural communities which seldom or never had more than one doctor for 2,500 to 3,000 persons.

Girl Wins Journalism Award At Ohio State U.

COLUMBUS, June 9.—Miss Martha Saenger, formerly of South Vienna, today won the Robert F. Wolfe award, highest honor given a journalism student at Ohio State university.

James M. Pollard, director of the school of journalism, said the award was based on scholastic excellence and a thesis based on a journalistic problem.

Miss Saenger, who is 22, finished her academic work in December and receives her award Friday. She now is on the Columbus staff of the Associated Press. She is a member of the honorary fraternities Theta Sigma Chi and Phi Beta Kappa.

Produce Prices Higher In May, Report Reveals

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, June 9.—Produce prices received by farmers here were generally higher in mid-May than in the previous month and with two exceptions exceeded May, 1942, prices, the Ohio cooperative crop reporting service announced today.

Potatoes led the increases with a 90-cent advance over the April 15 price, the service reported. Grains, apples, hay, veal, calves, milk cows, work stock and eggs also increased. Price of hogs, sheep, lambs, chickens, butterfat and milk, wholesale, declined during the 30 days ending May 15.

Prices recorded on May 15 of this year for farmers' products were higher than a year earlier with the exception of soybeans, which showed a three-cent drop and wool, which sold at the same price.

Wheat, potatoes, beef cattle, milk cows, chickens, eggs, butterfat and milk prices recorded the greatest increase over May 15, 1942.

BYRNES SHUNS HIGH OFFICE

War Mobilization Director Denies Aspirations to Vice Presidency

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 9.—James F. Byrnes, War Mobilization director, said today he had no ambition to be vice president and under no circumstances would he seek nomination for the post.

Byrnes made the statement in response to questions at his first press conference since he became over-all director of the nation's home-front activities.

He disclosed that he had sought meetings with the Truman war investigating committee of the senate and any similar single committee from the house to discuss ways to take up with him things that such committees believed needed to be improved in the war effort before they are aired in a controversial way on Capitol Hill.

He also disclosed that Bernard M. Baruch, presidential consultant and head of the War Industries board in the last World war, will assist him in an advisory capacity and will be assigned studies on government policies and programs.

Baruch will serve without pay or title and is more than glad to offer his services in such manner, Byrnes said.

The mobilization chief also said he would take a hand in considering future tax policies, and had called a meeting with Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau, Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson and Budget Director Harold D. Smith for tomorrow morning to discuss what he indicated was impending statement by the President to be issued when he signs the pay-as-you-go tax bill.

The questions concerning the vice presidency stemmed from recent conjecture among some political observers that Byrnes might be President Roosevelt's running mate in 1944 should Mr. Roosevelt be nominated for a fourth term.
